

LOOK FOR A NEW JAPANESE TREATY TO END TROUBLE

State Department Believes Status of Japs Will be Settled.

CITIZENSHIP IS NOT AMBITION

This Feature Has Had No Part in the Protest Against California Legislation; Administration Marks Time Until Gov. Johnson Outlines Stand.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—That a new treaty will be negotiated with Japan, which will define in no uncertain terms the status of the Japanese in the United States is the belief of officials in the State Department. No matter what the course taken by Governor Johnson of California may be, it is believed that negotiations between Secretary Bryan and Ambassador China have progressed far enough that a new treaty can be done.

Despite the fact that there have been numerous rumors about regarding the form of the Japanese protest, information as to the contents of the note sent the State Department by Ambassador China was refused today at both the Japanese embassy and the State Department. The rumors going the rounds are conflicting, but none of them is to the effect that Japan wants her citizens to become eligible to citizenship.

While reply to the Secretary of State's message to the Japanese is being awaited, the Wilson administration is making time.

Johnson Will Reply Today. SACRAMENTO, Cal., May 12.—Governor Johnson during the day will telegraph Bryan a reply to the Secretary of State's request that he postpone action on the anti-alien bill until after the election.

EXPRESS MESSENGER GONE. SO IS $12,500 IN CASH

Detectives Seek McLaughlin, Who Ran Between Uniontown and Pittsburgh; Thanks are Lost.

PITTSBURGH, May 12.—Detectives are searching for Harry T. McLaughlin, a messenger for the Adams Express Company, who ran on the Pittsburgh, Virginia & Charleston division of the Pennsylvania railroad between Uniontown and Pittsburgh. McLaughlin, it is alleged, made off with $12,500 in cash, part of a $15,000 shipment from the First National Bank of Uniontown and Charleston.

The money was consigned from Charleston, in McLaughlin's care, on Saturday. The loss was discovered in the Pittsburgh office of the Adams Express Company the next day. By that time McLaughlin had disappeared.

McLaughlin roomed in Uniontown and the detectives are seeking a woman who is said to have visited him there. The missing man is 24 years old and was at one time in jail and it is thought that he may return to that country.

UTILITIES BILL UP

House Spends Morning Session Considering Proposed Changes.

HARRISBURG, May 12.—The House spent nearly the entire morning in consideration of proposed amendments to the Public Utilities Bill, which was taken up on second reading. Allen, of Allegheny, objected to the presence of Attorney General Bell on the floor. The attorney general was sitting near Representative Rockwell, sponsor for the bill. The House voted to allow him to remain.

The majority of the proposed changes in the act were defeated. One of them, however, requiring companies to give the public the service outlined in their charters, passed.

The Senate this afternoon passed an amendment reading the bill prohibiting the placing of dams or other obstructions in streams without the permission of the State Water Supply Commission.

On motion of C. C. Goss of Fayette, the House reconsidered and passed the Davis voting machine bill, 134 to 33.

The House passed the "blue sky" bill to provide for a bureau of blue sky laws. The House also passed the Sherrill bill to make the personal property tax a county tax instead of a state tax.

Representative James J. Keegan of Fayette was named chairman of the committee to invite Secretary of State Bryan to address the House this afternoon.

The Herbert bill, to provide a constitutional convention, was recommitted to committee when it came up for third reading in the Senate last night. It will probably die there.

Senator Hiltner has introduced a bill which would abolish the party square from the ballot and in other respects, the same bill introduced in the House by Representative Humes and defeated.

Senator Deideman's bill providing that city treasurers collect all taxes was defeated, 16 to 18.

TAKES TESTIMONY HERE IN FIGHT OF DETAINED ITALIANS

Immigration Agent Seeks to Determine If Law is Violated.

FATE OF 49 IS IN BALANCE

Secretary of Labor Will Decide Whether Party Held at Ellis Island Shall Be Permitted to Come Here or Return to Italy; Quis Aided Here.

The scene of the three weeks fight to gain admittance to this country for 49 Italians held by immigration commissioners at Ellis Island is now being fought in the courts. The case, which was shifted from New York to Connellsville yesterday, when W. A. Garrison of Pittsburgh, special representative of the immigration authorities, came here and held a hearing in the case.

Mr. Garrison arrived in town at noon and at two o'clock began the hearings, which continued until 10 o'clock last night. They were resumed this morning, ending at 10:30, when the last of 49 witnesses were examined.

At noon the commissioner returned to Pittsburgh to prepare the evidence for submission to Secretary of Labor Wilson in Washington.

Secretary Wilson will make the final decision in the case. He will determine whether the Italians are to be deported at the expense of the steamship company which brought them here, or permitted to continue on their journey to Connellsville.

The immigrants arrived in New York City on April 25, and were held at Ellis Island while the immigration officials questioned each separately as to the party's destination. Three of the 49 immigrants asserted that the party was bound for Connellsville, where positions were awaiting them on a railroad. They pleaded ignorance to the identity of the transportation line, but were positive that jobs were awaiting them.

From the testimony of these three men, Commissioner Williams and his associates became suspicious that the party was being brought to Connellsville under the supervision of a contract-labor agent. The department and subsequent investigation followed.

If the findings of the commissioner lead Secretary of Labor Wilson to render an unfavorable decision, the immigrants will most likely be deported on May 22.

The witnesses were called by Manager P. Bufano and questioned in the foreign department of the Young Trust Company, where Inspector Garrison held the sessions.

TROUBLE IS FEARED

Cincinnati Street Car Strikers are in Danger of Losing Their Jobs.

CINCINNATI, May 12.—The authorities this afternoon are preparing for disturbances following the action yesterday afternoon of the striking street car men in refusing to acknowledge their difference as proposed by the traction company.

Leaders of the strikers this morning said that the proposals of the company were too vague, that there was nothing definite proposed. One of the demands, they declare, they will not submit to arbitration under any condition. This demand is for recognition of their union.

Presiding Schempe of the traction company this morning said that the corporation has done everything in its power to settle the strike, and that further steps in this direction must come from the men.

It is expected that the company will make another effort to run cars with strikebreakers. If this is attempted, trouble with the strikers is considered certain.

FIRE DESTROYS BRIDGE

Reinforcing Covered Structure, in Somerset County, is Burned.

ROCKWELL, May 12.—Somerset sustained the loss of one of its best county bridges by fire Sunday, when the famous Reinforcing covered-bridge, which spanned Laurel Hill creek two miles north of Trent, was burned. It is believed accidentally, by the carelessness of the neighborhood, who were fishing along the stream.

The Reinforcing bridge, a single-span Howe truss, 100-foot structure, was located on Laurel Hill creek where the old road leading past the ancient Scott farm, which was probably the first iron furnace ever constructed in Western Pennsylvania, crosses the stream. The old road is no longer much traveled, but now that the bridge is gone much inconvenience is experienced by farmers living on both sides of the creek, and they are importuning the county commissioners for its speedy replacement.

Bones of the bridge were given to the traveling public, Washington Grove, who resides on the middle terrace of the high hill overlooking the creek, says he is losing a lot of his valuable corn-planning time without the bridge. The bridge was a great convenience as to descend half-way down the mountain declivity without knowing what has happened to the bridge.

FIGHT FOR TARIFF

Penrose to Battle for Hearings on the Proposed Bill.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—Whether the Senate Finance committee shall conduct hearings on the tariff bill is the issue of a battle promised this afternoon before the Senate adjourns. An effort will be made to have a roll call on the question.

Penrose believes that some of the majority to oppose the provision in the bill, but Senator Penrose, who is leading the fight for the hearings, is of the opinion that he can filibuster against the bill until such time as the hearings are conceded.

ARCH STREET WORK TOO COSTLY TO BE DONE AT THIS TIME

Street Committee of Council Decides Against Improvement.

$5,000 NOT AVAILABLE NOW

Change in Grade and Damage to Properties Makes Proposal to Open New Thoroughfare Impracticable for the Present; Members View the Street.

As the result of their investigation it is not likely that the street committee will recommend to Council the opening of Grays alley and Arch street at this time. The cost would be too great.

Residents of the neighborhood had petitioned Council to open Arch street where it is crossed by the Pennsylvania railroad. At this point there is an opening less than six feet high beneath the bridge.

At a recent meeting of Council, Borough Engineer C. F. Hirst was instructed to prepare a profile of the two streets and have them with members of the street committee. The committee met with and viewed the properties abutting on Arch and Grays alleys.

It was found that the deepest cuts would be made in the rear of the Kelly hotel, on Arch street. There it would be necessary to make a cut of 9 feet 4 inches. At the rear of Mrs. Mary Russell's property, the cut would be six feet, but at the McCormick property it was up to eight feet, and would virtually remove all of the earth up to the foundations of the house, necessitating the erection of a strong retaining wall. The cut at the J. C. Moore property on Arch street would be about eight feet four inches. At the Keplart and Crow properties on French street the cut runs down to one foot, but at the rear of the lot at the corner of Arch street and Grays alley it would be eight feet four inches.

To make all of the necessary cuts and to erect the requisite retaining walls to protect these properties would require the expenditure of at least $5,000, which sum the street committee is not prepared to recommend to Council to expend this year for the work.

TWO HURT IN ACCIDENTS AT PERRY MANUFACTURING PLANT

Superintendent Gets a Bad Fall While Negro is Scalded by Steam; Neither Serious.

Two accidents at the Perry Manufacturing Company's plant at Perryopolis yesterday caused injuries to Superintendent W. R. Ruffe and Cal Lovett, a negro employed by the company.

Superintendent Ruffe plunged 40 feet from the top of a tippie when it gave way, but escaped with minor cuts and bruises. He was carried over by a truck which was being used to test the tippie's strength. The piling gave way, causing the mishap.

About the same time a steam pipe exploded in the boiler room. Lovett was struck in the face and had a bone broken by a piece of iron. He was painfully scalded by steam.

Both of the men were able to resume work after their injuries had been dressed by a physician.

HILL IS IN FLAMES

Fire Department Called to Extinguish South Arch Street Blaze.

The fire department was called out this afternoon to extinguish a blaze along the hill on South Arch street, on the Hyndman property owned by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. The fire burned for two or three hours before it assumed dangerous proportions. Then it was that the residents of the neighborhood hurried to the scene. By the time the firemen had arrived, the dry brush was burning fiercely. It took them considerable time to check the fire, as it was fanned by a brisk wind.

The woods along Porter hill, south of town, are burning freely. The entire top of the hill appeared from town to be ablaze. It is believed that the fire was of incendiary origin. On Sunday a party of hikers from town mounted the hill a short time after the woods had been set afire and saw two suspicious-looking men in the distance. They believe this pair started the fire. The blaze Sunday was beaten out by the hikers after an hour's hard fight.

The woods have become dry because of the absence of rain and unless showers are forthcoming, considerable damage is apt to be done.

OPEN MEETING TONIGHT

Membership of Chamber of Commerce Given Chance to Participate.

For the purpose of giving members of the organization an opportunity of expression in relation to matters of policy, civic and commercial importance, a meeting of the membership of the Chamber of Commerce will be held at 8:15 o'clock tonight. This is the general meeting held for a year past.

Since Mr. Schooley's advent here, the chamber has been devoting itself to an attempt to procure new industries for Connellsville, by bringing about reciprocal switching between the railroads, and to effect a better adjustment of the freight rates problem.

In future it is the intention of the organization to conduct monthly meetings. These sessions will be held in the rooms of the chamber on the fifth floor of the First National bank, and it is earnestly desired that every member attend them.

KERN TO PUSH PROBE

Eight Over West Virginia Investigation Will Be Made in Senate Today.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—The fight for the adoption of the Kern resolution providing for an investigation of West Virginia labor conditions, will begin in the Senate today. Senator Kern, majority leader, asserted this morning that he was confident that the resolution would be successful of passage.

Aline and labor officials visited the Senator in his office this morning, giving him evidence to present on the floor of the Senate when the fight on the resolution is waged.

Under the rules of the Senate, the resolution will come up for reconsideration at 4 o'clock. Those opposed to it point to the fact that the two years' strike in West Virginia is over and the adoption of the resolution would provide for an investigation that is entirely unnecessary.

A short meeting of the board was held last night at which time only routine business was transacted. The members approved the minutes of a special meeting called to borrow $5,000 to take care of current expenses until the taxes should be paid in. It is unofficially stated that the district will run on a few dollars behind this year and regardless of what happens to the bond issue, an increase in the tax levy for the current year is expected. Final details for the special election on the $175,000 bond issue next January were arranged.

Chairman Balsey presented a bill from the Auditor General for $238.50 due as state tax on outstanding bonds. The secretary was directed to check the list. Mr. Balsey also recommended that a settlement of the old Concord duplicate, on the West Side, be accepted on a 50 per cent basis, the board accepting $119.25. This was approved. The duplicate is badly tangled and several books are missing. Secretary Hays reported $12,784.3 due from taxes on duplicates from 1907 to date. At the request of Tax Collector Norton, Mrs. Thomas Doyle and Mrs. P. J. Solison were exonerated from school taxes which totalled $13.74.

The board recommended that Miss Ruth Davidson, Miss Edith Gallagher and F. W. Black be certified for State Normal diplomas, having taught two years in the schools.

LOW ASSESSMENTS RESPONSIBLE FOR HIGH SCHOOL TAX

Declare the Connellsville School Directors After Investigating

THE BIG DROP IN VALUATION

Fastest Growing Community of the Borough is Assessed $15,770 Less Than a Year Ago; Third Ward Drops $14,293; Quiet Meeting of Board.

When the School Board meets on Tuesday, May 27, a week following the bond-issue election, for the purpose of levying taxes and electing teachers, the millage for the ensuing year will be increased, regardless of what fate befalls the proposal to issue $175,000 bonds for the new high school building. This fact agreement was reached following the board's regular meeting last night.

Members of the board made no secret of their disappointment over the showing of the triennial assessment; for, while there was an approximate increase of $40,000 in the town's valuation over last year, two wards piled up a decrease of $30,000, and this despite the fact that one is the fastest growing ward in town.

Examination of the tax blotters by Secretary C. W. Hays brought to light that the assessment of the Seventh ward was $15,770 less than last year, while the Third ward shows a falling off of $14,293. The Seventh is growing faster than any other ward and building there has been more active during the past year.

Although the facts are not available, members of the board reached the conclusion that the fault lay largely with the assessors rather than the county commissioners, as the latter body has not been particularly active in the matter of reducing valuations upon appeal.

In the list of assessments for the Seventh, decreased over this year's figures by $15,770, the largest decrease was in two assessments alone much of the loss is accounted for. The Connellsville & State Line railroad, better known as the Western Maryland, is of the year assessment of $15,770 less than last year and the Connellsville Manufacturing Company—a reduced $6,230. A. E. Wagner had $3,860 chopped from his valuation of a year ago. The greatest increase in values was made on the home of Dr. J. C. McClellan, to which $2,405 was added. Robert Norris, paying taxes on $7,755 more than last year, and John Dugan, Sr., whose holdings are declared by the assessor to be worth $5,755 more. The reduction in the Seventh assessment is due to the fact that it has been become an operating line within the past year, and pays its taxes to the State.

In the Third ward some strange figures are found. The old Newmyer Opera House, recently sold, is assessed at $5,500 less than a year ago, although the property, having changed hands, is considerably improved. John D. Presber, whose lots at East Main street are soon to be offered to the public, had his figures reduced $2,200, the present valuation being only $3,500. The Pittsburgh Brewing Company's plant is now placed at $65,050, $7,350 less than last year.

Although realizing that protest at this time is useless, the board hopes that by calling attention to these apparent inequalities in the matter of assessments, future years will be more careful. It is pointed out that owners of dwellings are paying more than their proportionate share of taxes, and that a further burden is imposed by what the school directors declare to be unreasonable reductions.

In the Third ward the occupation tax is based on an increase of $5,079, with property valuations showing a falling off of $19,295, or a net loss of $14,216. There was a gain of $5,425 in occupations in the Seventh ward, a loss of $34,195 in realty, or a net loss of $15,770.

Losses in the assessed valuation mean not only a curtailment of revenue from taxes, but also reduce the borrowing capacity of the district, both for the School Board and Town Council.

It is unofficially stated that the district will run on a few dollars behind this year and regardless of what happens to the bond issue, an increase in the tax levy for the current year is expected. Final details for the special election on the $175,000 bond issue next January were arranged.

Chairman Balsey presented a bill from the Auditor General for $238.50 due as state tax on outstanding bonds. The secretary was directed to check the list. Mr. Balsey also recommended that a settlement of the old Concord duplicate, on the West Side, be accepted on a 50 per cent basis, the board accepting $119.25. This was approved. The duplicate is badly tangled and several books are missing. Secretary Hays reported $12,784.3 due from taxes on duplicates from 1907 to date. At the request of Tax Collector Norton, Mrs. Thomas Doyle and Mrs. P. J. Solison were exonerated from school taxes which totalled $13.74.

The board recommended that Miss Ruth Davidson, Miss Edith Gallagher and F. W. Black be certified for State Normal diplomas, having taught two years in the schools.

MARK TWAIN'S ADVICE

The Great Humorist Tells How to Keep Lame.

Mark Twain once said: "Put all your eggs in one strong basket and watch that basket." That's pretty good advice. If you put your money in one strong bank and, in watching that bank, note that every sworn statement it issues shows that it is growing stronger, you may rest assured that your money is safe. Take the First National of Connellsville for instance, which opened its doors 37 years ago and has grown steadily since then. Its latest statement shows resources of over $2,500,000. Deposits of more than $1,000,000 and a capital and surplus of the bank's own money—of $300,000. You make no mistake in placing your savings in such a bank. Not only absolute safety but 4% interest is assured. $1 opens an account.—Adv.

Housekeepers Form Clubs.

A new kind of club is gaining great popularity in this city. It is a club among housekeepers formed for the purpose of keeping down the cost of living. Ten neighbors get together and form a Larkin Club-of-Ten, then buy their Soaps, Spices, Teas, Notions and Pharmaceutical Preparations, etc., direct from Larkin Co. This saves them fully 50 per cent, and enables them to get just double the amount of household supplies for their money. or to obtain much handsome Premium Merchandise without increasing their regular living expenses. It also gets them together in a social way, as the various club meetings are most very interesting and enjoyable affairs. This club plan enables you and your neighbors to place a $10.00 order between you (the smallest it is economical to ship) and divide the expense evenly. Anyone who desires to do so, can form a Larkin Club and make the same savings these other women are making. Suppose you write to Larkin Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and ask them to place their plan in full, and shows you the 1,600 Premium Merchandise you can obtain by dealing with them. Catalog mailed free upon request.—Advertisement.

KIDNEYS SELDOM FREE FROM POISON

DEMOCRATIC TRIUMPH.

In spite of the optimism of our Democratic friends who are willing to sacrifice the country to the trying out of a pet theory, it looks as if the manufacturers were due to have a very unpleasant time under the Wilson bill. Senator John Sharp Williams, who belongs to a manufacturing background and frequently speaks the truth regardless of political expediency, announces that all the power of the Department of Justice will be brought to bear against "combinations formed among employers to restrain trade and intimidate Congress by cutting wages and closing factory doors."

In other words, if the manufacturer finds himself unable to produce goods in competition with those of the foreign manufacturer, he is to lose his laborer. He may not ask his workmen to come to his rescue in order to avoid the necessity of closing the plant, nor may he close his plant at all, even though he is losing money. He is to be subjected to the persecution of the Federal Government backed by all the power of its own machinery of Justice. Under such circumstances there seems nothing left for the manufacturer but bankruptcy, which will presumably excuse him from the further operation of his plant. What will become of the workmen after that is not yet indicated.

Senator Williams further says that the Democratic administration will "investigate the economic justice of cutting wages." How much better it would be for the Democratic administration to investigate the economic justice of the tariff changes before they are made than to assume that manufacturers will try to injure themselves and their workmen and the country in order to promote political interests.

As a class manufacturers are not politicians, neither are they all members of one political party. They will operate their plants under the coming Wilson bill if they can do so without actual loss. It will not be the first time American manufacturers have run their plants largely for the benefit of their workmen and their families. In spite of strikes, the relations between employers and employees are for the most part friendly. Wages are seldom wanted to be raised, but usually with reluctance and for reasonable causes, and they will not be reduced under the Wilson bill if the manufacturers can operate without that necessity.

If the effects of the Wilson bill upon the prices of certain commodities are such that they cannot longer be manufactured in competition in this country under the new conditions, thus necessitating the reduction of wages or the closing down of factories, the Democratic party cannot escape responsibility for this condition by any truckling threats against the hapless manufacturer.

Sharp Williams and other dull Democratic wits may try to divert public suspicion by crying out against the Goats, but the Common People will be ready with the Recall when the next election rolls around.

THE TWO GREGGS.

The latest news from Washington is rather disquieting to the Fayette county Democrats and especially to the candidacy of Gregg Lowellyn for Internal Revenue Collector of the district.

It seems that the ambitions of Gregg Lowellyn are hopelessly entangled with the aspirations of Curtis Gregg of Westmoreland county, recently a member of Congress and a friend of Speaker Clark, but now a lame duck. Gregg of Westmoreland thinks the sting of his defeat by the Honorable Abraham Lincoln Ketterer would be removed by his appointment as United States District Attorney, but the excellent Democratic politician will not permit the two best appointments of Western Pennsylvania to go to the Connelville coke region, and if Gregg of Westmoreland wins Gregg of Fayette loses, and vice versa.

But we see no reason why Gregg of Fayette should despair. It is charged that his sponsors Bruce F. Sterling and Wooda N. Carr were late Progressives, which is to say that they were not of the original conspirators who plotted the overthrow of "Colonel" James Madison Giffey, the Easy Boss of the Pennsylvania Democracy, and the elevation of the Mitchell-Guthrie-McCormick Triumvirate to the bosom of the party.

But it is a matter of record that the Fayette county delegation at the last State Convention was led by Chairman Sterling; that it was lined up faithfully for the Triumvirate; that then and there Fayette county counts were about for Wilson, and that it never ceased shouting until Wilson was nominated in the state, sweat and snot at Baltimore.

In the meantime, where was Gregg of Westmoreland? If we remember correctly, he was shouting for Clark for President, at home, at Washington, at Harrisburg, at Baltimore.

Is the Barefoot Boy Combination to be hustled in order to meet Lane Duck who never tried to hatch anything but a Clark doorknob?

Out of the West, Young Lochlavar Lowellyn is still coming.

The custom of electing teachers for the coming year before their present terms have expired is growing in this neighborhood. It is founded on the suspicion that the early board gets the worm, so to speak. In practice, it secures the old teachers, unless they jump the contract before they are signed up, and thus guards against any deterioration in the service; but, on the other hand, it affords no opportunity for increasing the efficiency of the educational corps. Upon the whole perhaps the Open Door policy is the best, provided it is accompanied by prompt action and wide publicity.

This backward summer is not only unpleasant but actually expensive.

The three leading universities of Pennsylvania have been asked to agree among themselves on an amicable division of $4,000,000 of public money. The chances are they won't agree. We would suggest as a compromise that the three colleges be given a million dollars each and the remaining million be devoted to the construction of the Youghiogheny dam.

The overcasts and the furnaces are still hanging on to their jobs and the gas man has not yet put on that listless and tired summer look.

The policemen of Connelville are not enforcing it properly unless they know it thoroughly, and an improper application of the law is as dangerous to the policeman as it is to the victim.

The improperly handled Coffin Nail is now a sure key to the county jail.

The Joys are holding forth on the Plinacoe because of the appearance of the water wagon while the Glooms hold possession of Isabelle road because the water service is poor. Away with the Glooms; let the Joys be unconfined!

Sharon has been scourged by fire as well as by flood.

It's pretty tough on the Democrats just returned from a long and weary sojourn at the headwaters of Salt River, to find out that a faithful supporter of the Democrats, a faithful supporter of the Three R's and a lot of other things before he can carry the keys of the postoffice.

The postmistress of Pennsville knows how to keep her head, as well physically as figuratively.

The smoke of mystery seems to be lifting from the Cincinnati mine explosion. It is in evidence as it was a genuine mine and that open lights were used in it. The next inquiry should be whether these open lights were sanctioned by any proper authority, and if so who that authority was.

Beware of Greeks bearing gifts and milkmen bestowing cats.

With one coko village smashed by a powder explosion and a railroad narrowly escaped from being dynamited into kingdom come, the Klondike is getting too exciting for people with nerves.

The Hon. Jim Keegan is no slouch of a statesman. He knows where to stand just before the spotlight is turned on.

The Honorable Philander Chase Knox positively comes back to his old home and his native county as a neighbor and private citizen, and as such we are all glad to see him.

The express company is probably sorry that $12,500 wasn't sent from Monticourt by Parcel Post along with the rest.

Bryan may know something about mending wire fences out in the western prairie country, but he doesn't know anything about Pennsylvania wire fences. They cannot always be mended in a day.

The second chapter in the Steel Sulf is now being compiled. The book will not be finished for some time to come, and when it is completed most people will probably wonder why it was ever begun.

With George Worthey of Guthrie in Japan, possibly the Pennsylvania Legislature will be permitted to conclude its labors in peace.

The railroad rule of Safety First seems to involve bringing up of some of locomotive engineers in their technical knowledge.

Now that our food and drugs are required by law to be properly labeled as to contents, it is proposed to require a similar label from the tailors and shoemakers. When the guarantee requirement gets around to newspaper circulation some of our contemporaries will be in a bad way.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON

The Famous Prose Poet

An Unprofitable Policy

"O UR new boarder is a remarkable young man," said the landlady. "He draws his salary every Saturday night and deposits one-third of it in the bank. Most young men nowadays are extravagant, and it does one good to see a youth who makes provision for the future."

"I have but little respect for any young man who puts a part of his salary in the bank," said the old boarder. "It is a discouraging fact that such a young man usually receives the approbation of elderly ladies and other obsolete moralists which causes him to believe that he is doing something fine, and he soon begins to regard himself as a shining example, and so becomes insufferable, and I have no doubt whatever that if I rise from the table one of these days and smite that elderly landlady in the eye with a coffee ball, for if there is one thing I abhor, it is a young man who makes provision for the future."

"I can understand and sympathize with a man who waxes well-tricked in years, devotes his attention to saving money. There is nothing else for him to do. The girl who is so good for nothing but to be a good mother to the moving picture boys and the probability being that he will be in a box then. Don't understand me at saying that the elderly man should save money. I merely insist that he has some excuse for it. As a matter of fact, no sane citizen puts his money in the bank. He blows it and shows an indefinable determination to leave nothing behind him for the lawyers. There is nothing finer than to have an old man squandering his money hand over fist, while the attorneys and conveyancers look on and gnash their teeth in impotent rage."

"But there is no excuse for the young man who saves money. He is a cold-blooded creature who reflects discredit upon the entire race. Youth is a season of roses and wine. Mrs. Jiggers, and the young man who has as much as fifty cents of his wages left on Monday morning should be ashamed to commit himself in the looking glass. The ideal young man has to borrow money from the janitor on Monday and soak his watch on Tuesday. And he doesn't buy anything useful with his wages. Buying useful things is quite as contemptible as putting money in the bank, and no youth of spirit will consider such a course. When I was young before I discovered that money is a delusion, I worked in a hardware store and drew my wages out of the till. In those days dogs were popular, and I spent most of my money for such creatures. I bought a new dog every Saturday night. I had bulldogs and terriers and hounds and spaniels. I had foreign and domestic dogs. I had more dogs than a contortionist could shake a stick at. It took all my spare change to buy food for them, and people said I was crazy. Perhaps I was, but I was happy. You can't realize how happy you can be until you have a great assortment of dogs, which bark all night and annoy the neighbors. There's nothing more amusing than to see a fat man at his back window throwing shelf and heavy hardware at a galaxy of dogs. Suddenly I was fired from my position and found myself with an aggregation of how-woofs and less than twenty cents in cash. For several days I peddled dogs around town and thus earned enough to keep soul and body together. I found the experience amusing, and danced and sang as I made my rounds with my sample. I was full of dogdom, and in the most heartless way, and one day when he was sneering in the bank in which he had deposited his money went broke, and he lost the savings of years. So while I was merrily vending my pups he was going around his neck and put an end to his misery. We always have that consolation when we see a young man depositing his money, the bank will suspend payment."

NEWS OF A DAY IN SCOTSDALE.

Special to The Courier.

SCOTSDALE, May 13.—The body of Alonius Arvin, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Arvin, formerly of Scottdale and now residents of Cumberland, Md., was brought here for burial on Monday, by Undertaker William Ferguson. The body was brought to the home of the child's grandmother, Mrs. B. C. Arvin of Bridge street, from where the funeral was held at 2 o'clock today.

It was while playing "moving pictures" that the child was killed. He was clad in a cowboy suit and had a little toy pistol in his hand, when his father found the child with a .38-caliber revolver bullet through his brain. The child was going on nine years of age and with a number of others were playing next door to the Arvin home. One of the children came home shortly after the accident and told her mother that "Alonius Arvin was shot and killed down." The child was only four and her mother thought she was merely describing part of the play. No grown person was about and no one heard the shot, and the child was not found for some little time. Freddy Rinkler lives next door to it is said, and his parents have a suite of rooms, and from a dresser drawer he got a .38-caliber revolver. The other children had toy pistols, cheap little affairs. After he had shot the Arvin child the little fellow crawled under a bed and was not found until after midnight, then he was discovered lying beneath the bed, asleep.

SENT TO JAIL.

Walter Collins who was robbed of some clothing and money on Sunday had the satisfaction at least of seeing the pants and shirts once more. James Larkin, who has been hanging around the livery stables for several weeks, was arrested Monday afternoon charged with the stealing. He had on a shirt and trousers that Collins said were his. Larkin said he found the shirt and trousers up about the brewery. Such a case has created a great deal of people to that locality. Justice S. H. Rutherford thought he would allow the district attorney to unravel the situation, and Larkin was sent to Greensburg jail.

COT GOT AWAY.

A yearling colt followed a team driven by a man named Cotton from west of Scottdale to Dawson on Sunday, where the colt was penned up.

The DAUGHTER of DAVID KERR

By Harry King Tootle

Gloria tried to gather herself together to meet this new attack, but without much success. She felt so weak from the shock that she was only able to rise from her chair with difficulty.

"You're out of your head. You're mad. Keep still, I tell you." The man still standing irresolute, she turned upon them. "Why are you standing there? Leave this room."

Little Ella was enjoying herself hugely. Gloria's every pleading tone was music in her ears. Her eyes burned with excitement. Yet the cruellest delay to crush the mouse. Its quivering was too soul-satisfying. Realizing that if she admitted Gloria was the daughter of David Kerr the men would forego their pursuit of Wright, Little Ella knew her best course was to deny the relationship.

"Don't you go Turkey," she yelled. "I'll tell you the truth," she turned to Gloria. "I wish the boss had a daughter, did I?—It's a lie, Turkey. She's not Dave Kerr's girl. He'd laugh to see a daughter of his in such a hell-hole. I'd watch her to see that she paid the price," she glanced at Gloria malevolently. "If—if he had a daughter. An' yer perfectin' the man you love!" she mocked. "We'll see how the boss' daughter loves."

Her laughter was terrible. The men would not think her the same woman they knew. Gloria started in alarm. She felt the woman was mad, and did not know what she might do.

"What are you going to do?" she asked. Now Ella was sneering at her. She knew how to choose knife-blades for words. In everything she said was the cunning and the cruelty of a lost woman. Gloria was suffering, who could see, but there was still another chord which would vibrate to misery. Since time began jealousy has been a flaming sword in the hands of an unscrupulous antagonist who knows how to use it. To make Gloria think that she was defending a man untrue to her, was something. To make her believe that she had been defeated by the greater charm of Little Ella herself, was far more.

"Do you think I'd let you hit that man if he'd loved you? Never. You don't know why he came here, but I do. He came to see me. He loves me."

She beat her breasts as she spoke to emphasize her words and her eyes sparkled with the challenge she had just hurled at the daughter of the boss. Gradually, bit by bit, the veneer of civilization had been chipped away. Gloria no longer saw the girl that separated them. She knew only that by cozening words this other woman was trying to make her think she had been robbed of her own. Her weakness left her. Now when she summoned all her strength, she joyed to find it did not fail. As Little Ella proclaimed that the man they were hiding had come to see her, Gloria sprang to the side of the bed, and cried with all the indignation of an overwrought soul: "You lie!"

"That's what you say, but down in your heart you know it's the truth. It ain't the first time he's been here. Oh, he's told me about you, the boss' daughter, but it's me he loves."

The men were forgotten in this duel so elemental that it could have had the stone age for its setting. On one side, hate as bitter as the grave; on the other, love and faith stronger than death itself.

"Every word you utter is a lie," Gloria blazed. "If you loved him you wouldn't have called these outbursts."

"Why don't you tell 'em yer the daughter now?" taunted the other.

"Look here, Ella," Ryan broke in, "we're tired of standin' here like fools. Quit yer gasin' an' make good."

"You'll get your all right. She's not David Kerr's daughter. Don't you let her bluff you. I know where she hid 'im. I'll tell you where he is."

Gloria turned upon the men. "I've told you the truth and I've warned you. Don't you come a step closer." Then she threatened the woman. "If you dare to speak a—"

Little Ella was not to be intimidated. "When she dragged him in," she began, "she looked the door, an' then she—"

Gloria was standing at no great distance from the bed when Little Ella began her betrayal of Wright's hiding place. As she realized that in an instant the secret would be out, her eyes dilated with her look of hate. Then they narrowed to cruel slits, while a tremor ran through her body. One who knew the girl would scarcely have recognized her. Like some life-creature of the jungle waiting for the kill, she seemed to crouch for the spring. Just as the woman was about to utter the words which would reveal where the newspaper man was concealed, Gloria was upon her. She seemed with one bound to have leapt the space that separated them.

"You Jesabel!" she raged, and struck her fair upon the mouth.

Ryan and Kelly did not stir. The unexpected had happened, and they were spellbound.

Gloria's breath rushed through her teeth with a hoarse, hissing sound, her face was flushed, her hair tumbled, and her waist in disarray. Yet she showed nothing but the wild impulse to defend her own.

Little Ella, her seat strength all gone, gazed out that she would tell nothing. Gloria was beside herself and the promise meant nothing to her. With a man's strength she lifted the woman up, held her there as a instant, and then hurled her back upon the bed. Her head fell over the side, and she lay as one dead.

Her rage was still hot upon her as she turned to confront the two men. "As for you, get out."

Ryan made one last halfhearted stand. "Say, the boss hates that man. Are you really Dave Kerr's daughter?"

And you need to ask such a question if you will, but beware of David Kerr! If ever you have cause to fear him, you have it now. My anger is his anger, and don't you dare defy the daughter of David Kerr!

She took a step forward menacingly, as if she had strength to inflict the same chastisement they had seen administered to the woman. They did not stay to argue with her. Leaving Little Ella to her fate, they made a hasty retreat.

No sooner were they out of the room than Gloria put into execution what she had designed when they departed the first time. Rushing to the door she closed it hastily and pushed the washstand in front of it, wedging it under the knob. This done, she ran back and dragged Wright from his hiding place. There was no thought of the woman whose head hung over the side of the bed in such ghastly fashion.

Gloria lifted his head and dashed water upon his face. She watched him closely, and as she saw that it had no effect upon him, a sudden fear seized her, and her cheeks were blanched. With trembling fingers she tore at his shirt and felt for the beat of his heart. She could feel its faint pulsation. He lived.

With a wild cry she flung herself forward in a deep swoon upon the body of the unconscious man.

Steel Corporation Head TELLS OF TRADE GROWTH

President Farrell, in Government Suit, Tells of Conquering the World's Trade.

NEW YORK, May 12.—The United States Steel Corporation was pictured by James A. Farrell, its president, as a combination organized not to suppress competitors, but to develop the sale of steel in foreign lands, a development which could not have been accomplished, he said, if the corporation had not taken the various companies competing for foreign business under its wing. He was testifying as the first witness for the defense in the government suit to dissolve the corporation as a combination in restraint of trade.

Mr. Farrell amazed his hearers by his intimate knowledge of affairs in remote parts of the world and held them keenly interested as he narrated the story of his rise from a common laborer in a steel mill at the age of 15 to the head of the greatest industrial corporation in the world at the age of 50.

The witness traced the growth of the steel corporation's export business from 292,000 tons the first year it was organized to 2,245,600 tons in 1912, and from $21,000,000 in value in 1904 to $92,000,000 in 1912, and said that the efforts of the corporation to push its foreign trade had been continuous and indefatigable. "The result had been that 99 per cent of the country's foreign trade in steel was done by the corporation," he said.

Contradicting the testimony of William E. Corey, his predecessor as president of the corporation, that there had been "understandings" be-

RHEUMA DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Right away—the first day you start to take RHEUMA—the Uric Acid poison begins to dissolve and leave the sore joints and muscles. Its action is little less than magical.

RHEUMA works so speedily you actually can feel the Rheumatism leaving the body. A bottle costs but 50 cents, and if you are not satisfied A. A. Clarke will return your money. Read this:

"I wish to state to you the facts and nothing but the facts. I bless the day a friend brought me a 50-cent bottle of RHEUMA. I used one-half of it and it did me more good than all the other medicines I ever tried. I had been afflicted with Rheumatism all over my body for more than 25 years. I could not walk, and was a broken-down man. During that time I spent a small fortune trying to be rid of the horrible disease, but without help. However, RHEUMA reached my case, and I thank God I can again use my feet and do my work."

"Before taking your medicine I was staying with a daughter on her farm, and despite her loving efforts to tempt my appetite I could not eat. After I had taken RHEUMA two days, my appetite returned. Yours for propriety."—Prof. H. H. Kolling, 7 South Ninth street, Richmond, Ind., Oct. 12, 1912.—Advertisement.

Between the corporation and foreign manufacturers as to prices and a division of territory. Mr. Farrell said:

"We have never operated under any pools or agreements with foreign manufacturers, either as to price or location. We have never entered into any contracts or agreements with foreign manufacturers to stay out of their market provided they would stay out of ours."

He denied, also, that the corporation made a "practice" of selling its products lower abroad than in this country. "In fact, some of our commodities are sold slightly," he said.

For the purpose of refuting the allegation of the Government that the International Harvester Company enjoyed unfair advantages in the purchase of steel from the corporation, because the two corporations had interlocking directors, the witness produced tables intended to show that the amount of steel sold by the corporation to the Harvester company was insignificant. "The largest amount in any one year was 25,000 tons in 1911, according to the tables."

Mr. Farrell also produced tables to show that the freight rates on steel products, charged by the corporation on its own railroads, had forced reductions on competing roads whereas on roads not competing with the corporation roads the rates had been advanced.

"The last eight years we have furnished the steel for every steel structure that has been built in Buenos Aires," Mr. Farrell said, "and this has been in competition with German, English and French competitors. The Carnegie Steel & Iron Company was being developed, he said, with the purpose of manufacturing steel for the Mexican and South American trade."

Speaking of export business into Canada, he said that the Canadian preferential tariff in favor of British rails prevented American manufacturers from selling that product there at a profit. "There duty on American rails is $7.84 a ton, he said, and on British, $5.04."

Do You Need Assistance

IN THE SELECTION OF YOUR WALL PAPER?

There is a logical sequence governed largely by the existing conditions in your home which if followed will produce correct results. Each room should be treated so as to give it correct form and proportions.

Then there is the question of color and design which must suit the individualities of each room as well as harmonize with the adjoining rooms. Especially is this true of parlors, dining room and reception hall or any group of rooms when considered collectively.

I can render you valuable assistance in the selection of your Wall Papers.

PUTS AN END TO BACKACHE,
QUICKLY CURES WEAK KIDNEYS

A Few Doses Give Relief,
Helps Lifeless Organs Regain Health, Strength and Activity.

It is useless, dangerous, and unnecessary to be tortured with the digging, twisting pains of backache and rheumatism, or suffer with disagreeable kidney and bladder disorders any longer.
The new discovery, Croxone, provides a remedy which every sufferer can now depend upon to promptly and surely relieve all such misery and bring about a speedy cure.
Croxone cures these troubles because it quickly overcomes the very cause of the disease. It soaks right into the stopped up, inactive kidneys, through the membranes and linings, cleanses out the little filtering glands, neutralizes and dissolves the poisonous uric acid and makes the kidneys filter and sift from the blood all the waste and poisonous matter that clog the system and cause such troubles. It does not matter whether you have but slight symptoms or the most chronic, aggravated case of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism that it is possible to imagine, for the very principle of Croxone is such that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results.

You will find it different from all other remedies. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it, and all the misery and suffering that go with such troubles end.
You can secure an original package of Croxone from any first class druggist. All druggists are authorized to personally return the purchase price if it fails to give the desired results the very first time you use it. —Advertisement.
